Based on period from:	01/10/2018
Total Expense	1.56%
Transaction Costs	0.08%
Total Investment Charge	1.64%
1 Year Total Expense	1.62%

Total Expense (TER): This ratio shows the charges, levies and fees relating to the management of the portfolio and is expressed as a percentage of the average net asset value of the portfolio, calculated over the period shown and annualised to the most recently completed quarter. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER should not be regarded as an indication of future TERs.

Transaction Costs (TC): This ratio shows the percentage of the value of the fund incurred as costs relating to the buying and selling of the fund's underlying assets. TC are a necessary cost in administering the fund and impacts fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of fund, investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.

Total Investment Charges (TIC): This ratio is simply the sum of the TER and TC, showing the percentage of the value of the fund incurred as costs relating to the investment of the fund. It should be noted that performance figures account for all costs included in the TIC ratio, so you should not deduct the TIC from performance figures, the performance is already net of the TIC.

Fund review

September saw the sharpest correction since the March 2020 pandemic induced panic sell-off, erasing the gains from the first two months of the quarter. Although unwelcome, the -4% decline in the MSCI All Country World index in September should be viewed in the context of the 80%+ rally since March 2020. Volatility had been fairly benign in the run up to the quarter end, an uncommon feature for the asset class.

The feeder fund outperformed the benchmark and delivered a positive absolute return over the quarter, helped by Rand weakness. The underlying fund outperformed the benchmark MSCI All Country World index, but it was not immune from weaker stock markets. It closed slightly in the red over the quarter. Stock selection saw puts and takes. A notable outperformer was ICON plc. This clinical trial outsourcer reported a solid set of results which indicated a healthy level of new business wins, easing investor concerns around a drop off in COVID related work. Another positive contributor was Keyence. As a global leader in factory automation equipment, this Japanese company is well placed to benefit from a rebound in capital expenditure in industries such as electric vehicles, semiconductors, and batteries. The largest negative contributors were Tencent and Alibaba as the Chinese Big Tech regulatory crackdown continued apace.

Market overview

The MSCI All Country World index has experienced -10% peak-to-trough sell-offs in two out of every three years on average over the past 40 years. -10% is more the norm than the exception. Hence, it would not be a surprise if the current sell-off had further to go. There was a myriad of reasons for the market weakness at the end of the quarter. They spanned from the more hawkish tone from Central Banks around the globe, the rise in oil prices and the spill-over effect on inflation, supply chain disruptions resulting from renewed lockdowns in several Asian countries, and higher input costs threatening record high profit margins. Many of these headwinds are expected to dissipate over the coming quarters, which will allow investors to refocus on the healthy economic recovery that underpins corporate earnings growth.

Looking ahead

Looking beyond the short-term disruptions, a combination of pent-up demand, high savings ratios, inventory restocking and continued policy support are expected to underpin economic growth. While valuations are still not cheap by historical standards, corporate earnings growth is expected to be strong enough to offset any price-to-earnings de-rating. Consensus earnings growth forecasts have erred on the side of caution, given the vagaries of the COVID pandemic, so there is room for upside surprises. Many companies have capacity to increase dividend pay-out ratios to pre-crisis levels over the next two years which will result in dividend growth exceeding earnings growth over this period. As the economic momentum slows and the equity rally matures, there will be a greater focus on individual company fundamentals. Picking the right stocks will become an increasingly greater differentiator in portfolio performance.
