Based on period from:	01/04/2022
Total Expense	1.49%
Transaction Costs	0.01%
Total Investment Charge	1.49%
1 Year Total Expense	1.47%

Total Expense (TER): This ratio shows the charges, levies and fees relating to the management of the portfolio and is expressed as a percentage of the average net asset value of the portfolio, calculated over the period shown and annualised to the most recently completed quarter. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER should not be regarded as an indication of future TERs.

Transaction Costs (TC): This ratio shows the percentage of the value of the fund incurred as costs relating to the buying and selling of the fund's underlying assets. TC are a necessary cost in administering the fund and impacts fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of fund, investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.

Total Investment Charges (TIC): This ratio is simply the sum of the TER and TC, showing the percentage of the value of the fund incurred as costs relating to the investment of the fund. It should be noted that performance figures account for all costs included in the TIC ratio, so you should not deduct the TIC from performance figures, the performance is already net of the TIC.

Fund review

Over the quarter, the fund returned -0.48% behind a benchmark return of -0.09%. The fund's underperformance was primarily due to the global equity component, while the cash enhancement performed broadly in line with its benchmark and delivered a positive return.

From an equity perspective, sector allocation was a positive contributor to performance relative to the benchmark and stock selection was a slight negative. Having no exposure to defensive energy, utilities and consumer staples hurt from an allocation perspective. This was offset by our overweight to financials and underweight to IT. The cash enhancement component has benefited from an overweight duration position which was extended on a steepening yield curve. The exposure to investment grade credit was also increased with new issuers added to the Fund. Whilst we see limited scope for bond yields to fall sharply given recent declines, money market yields remain attractive at over 4%.

Market overview

The first quarter of 2025 was marked by significant volatility across global financial markets, driven largely by the US President Trump's administration's proposed policies aimed at "making America great again." In particular the erratic deployment of trade tariffs and US Administration's more onerous than expected import tariff announcements on "Liberation day" with threats of retaliation, have created elevated levels of policy uncertainty and concerns over their effects on the global economic outlook for the rest of the year. This uncertainty is likely to make companies more cautious about capital expenditures and hiring, potentially leading to a more significant slowdown than our base case, with stagflation as a possible outcome.

US equity markets meaningfully underperformed their global peers, contrasting sharply with the initial post-election period. The MSCI USA fell -4.7%, while the MSCI ex USA rose by 5.2%, dragging global equity markets (MSCI All Country World Index ACWI) down by -1.3% in US dollar terms and by -4.28% in sterling due to the very significant weight of US stocks in the world equity index. Technology stocks lost their shine as investors shifted to cheaper sectors and regions, driven by broadening earnings growth outside of Technology. Concerns about new AI competition, particularly from China's DeepSeek model, further dampened sentiment towards US tech stocks. Meanwhile, China and the Eurozone emerged as star performers, benefiting from technological advancements, economic stimulus measures and lower valuations, as US growth momentum waned.

Looking ahead

Given that the near-term outlook for the global economy has become increasingly uncertain and that valuations across asset classes don't allow much room for any form of financial dislocation or economic shock, we have trimmed our exposure to Global Equity to underweight and increased the position to Cash Plus to overweight.

While the current environment presents challenges, our strategy remains focused on resilience and long-term growth. By maintaining diversification through a balanced asset allocation whilst supporting only high-quality investments, we are well-positioned to navigate the uncertainties ahead.
