

Melville Douglas STANLIB Balanced Fund

Fund information update at 31 January 2026

What is the fund's objective?

The objective of the fund is to deliver high growth of capital and income, a reasonable level of current income and relative stability for capital invested to obtain long term wealth accumulation.

What does the fund invest in?

The fund is an actively managed multi-asset class mandate designed to reflect Melville Douglas's optimal long-term capital growth strategy. The fund focuses on delivering balance between investment returns and the risk associated with those returns, between capital growth and cash generation and balance between compound and cyclical price performers. The maximum equity effective exposure (including international equity) will not exceed 75% of the market value of the portfolio.

What possible risks are associated with this fund?

General market risks include a decline in property values, share price volatility, a change in interest rates and economic conditions. Where foreign securities are included in the portfolio there may be additional risks, such as potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds, macro-economic risks, political risks, tax risks, settlement risks, and potential limitations on the availability of market information.

	Class B1
Based on period from:	01/01/2023
Total Expense	1.32%
Performance Fee	0.00%
Transaction Costs	0.08%
Total Investment Charge	1.39%
1 Year Total Expense	1.33%

Total Expense (TER): This ratio shows the charges, levies and fees relating to the management of the portfolio and is expressed as a percentage of the average net asset value of the portfolio, calculated over the period shown and annualised to the most recently completed quarter. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER should not be regarded as an indication of future TERs.

Transaction Costs (TC): This ratio shows the percentage of the value of the fund incurred as costs relating to the buying and selling of the fund's underlying assets. TC are a necessary cost in administering the fund and impacts fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of fund, investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.

Total Investment Charges (TIC): This ratio is simply the sum of the TER and TC, showing the percentage of the value of the fund incurred as costs relating to the investment of the fund. It should be noted that performance figures account for all costs included in the TIC ratio, so you should not deduct the TIC from performance figures, the performance is already net of the TIC.

Fund review

The Melville Douglas STANLIB Balanced Fund delivered a return of 4.2% over the fourth quarter. Notwithstanding an overweight position to South African assets, the performance from the fund's equity holdings detracted from the returns relative to our peer group.

Market overview

Despite all the volatility and uncertainty that arose in 2025, it was a good year for Global Equity markets and notably South African equities. As at 31 December 2025, South Africa's FTSE/JSE All Share Index delivered exceptional returns over the quarter, climbing 8.1%, outpacing the MSCI AC World, which recorded a decrease of 0.8% in Rand terms. This sustained market optimism remains in sharp contrast to the challenges confronting South Africa's economy, where GDP rose modestly by 0.5% quarter-on-quarter in 3Q25 following 0.9% growth in the previous quarter, reflecting a mix of resilience in key industries. The defining themes of 2025 were the disruptions caused by the Liberation Day tariffs and the ensuing geopolitical tensions, as well as the exceptional rally across precious metals. The Rand maintained its resilience with key drivers of ZAR strength in the last quarter being (i) a market-friendly Medium-Term Budget Policy Statement (MTBPS), which propelled the Rand to R17.07/USD; (ii) reaffirmation of the 3% inflation target, which is expected to bolster macroeconomic stability by aligning South Africa (SA) with its major trading partners and mitigating structural downward pressure on the currency; and (iii) a 25bps policy rate cut. Notably, the S&P rating upgrade had a relatively muted impact on the currency. Headline CPI edged higher to 3.6% from 3.4%, primarily due to fuel price base effects, while food and core goods inflation moderated. The increase was below market expectations, with the SARB projecting average inflation of 3.3% for year-end. During the quarter, market sentiment became increasingly fragmented amid growing concerns over the lack of consensus among Federal Reserve officials. Statements ranged from advocating for a 50bps rate cut to emphasising the need for caution given inflation remains above the Fed's 2% target. Ultimately, the Fed implemented a 25bps cut in December, in line with market expectations.

Looking ahead

As we reflect on the year that was, it goes without saying that the initial positive sentiment following the formation of the Government of National Unity faded over the course of 2025, as tensions mounted within the GNU and a 30% tariff on certain SA exports weighed on growth expectations and confidence. However, we maintain a constructive view on SA risk assets, supported by prospects for a meaningful improvement in real GDP growth after more than a decade of stagnation. A sustained recovery in confidence combined with the successful implementation of SA's growth reforms will be critical to lifting SA's growth profile and unlock capital investments. Positive factors that will drive this recovery include the country's removal from the Financial Action Task Force (FATF) 'grey list', a market-friendly MTBPS and S&P's upgrade of SA's Long-term sovereign credit rating. Importantly, S&P affirmed a positive outlook, signalling potential for further upgrades, if fiscal and economic reforms continue to gain traction. The projected easing of interest rates is expected to support economic activity and asset prices. As we close off the year, valuations for the domestic equity market remains attractive. Global earnings revisions have turned positive after the downward revisions earlier this year. Corporate earnings growth is projected to regain momentum and broaden across sectors in 2026 and 2027. This recovery is expected to be driven by favourable base effects, lower interest rates, and continued fiscal support. SA bonds offer attractive returns/yields in absolute and real terms. We still anticipate that this asset class will outperform cash over the next year. Notwithstanding the challenges faced this year, we will continue to construct the portfolio with a balanced and diversified approach aimed at delivering superior risk-adjusted returns. Our focus remains on high-conviction holdings that demonstrate the ability to generate attractive, compounding cash flows across business cycles, at compelling valuations, supported by sustainable earnings, robust cash generation, and sound capital structures.

All performance returns and ranking figures quoted are shown in ZAR and are based on data sourced from Morningstar or Statpro and are as at 31 January 2026.

Annualised return figures are the compound annualised growth rate (CAGR) calculated from the cumulative return for the period being measured. These annualised returns provide an indication of the annual return achieved over the period had an investment been held for the entire period. Actual annual figures are available on request from the Manager.

Portfolio performance figures are calculated for the relevant class of the portfolio, for a lump sum investment, on a NAV-NAV basis, with income reinvested on the ex-dividend date. Individual investor performance may differ due to initial fees, actual investment date, date of reinvestment of income and dividend withholding tax. Portfolio performance accounts for all costs that contribute to the calculation of the cost ratios quoted, all returns quoted are after these costs have been accounted for.

Statistics - Positive Months: the number of individual 1 month periods during the specified time period where the return was not negative; Max Gain: the maximum gain in a trough-to-peak incline before a new trough is attained, quoted as the percentage between the trough and the peak. It is an indicator of upside risk over a specified time period (quoted for all periods of 1 year or longer); Max Drawdown: the maximum loss in a peak-to-trough decline before a new peak is attained, quoted as the percentage between the peak and the trough. It is an indicator of downside risk over a specified time period (quoted for periods of 1 year or longer, where no value is shown no loss was experienced); Highest and Lowest: the highest and the lowest 1 year return (%) that occurred during the specified time period (quoted for all relevant classes launched 1 year or more prior to current month end date).
