Based on period from:	01/10/2016	01/10/2016

Transaction Costs	0.09%	0.09%
Total Investment Charge	1.87%	1.41%

Total Expense (TER): This ratio shows the charges, levies and fees relating to the management of the portfolio and is expressed as a percentage of the average net asset value of the portfolio, calculated over the period shown and annualised to the most recently completed quarter. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER should not be regarded as an indication of future TERs.

Transaction Costs (TC): This ratio shows the percentage of the value of the fund incurred as costs relating to the buying and selling of the fund's underlying assets. TC are a necessary cost in administering the fund and impacts fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of fund, investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.

Total Investment Charges (TIC): This ratio is simply the sum of the TER and TC, showing the percentage of the value of the fund incurred as costs relating to the investment of the fund. It should be noted that performance figures account for all costs included in the TIC ratio, so you should not deduct the TIC from performance figures, the performance is already net of the TIC.

Fund review

The fund achieved a return of negative 3.9% for the third quarter of 2019 against the benchmark return of negative 4.6%. The underweight position in cyclical sectors such as basic materials helped the relative performance and the defensive positions benefitted the portfolio over the quarter. During the quarter, we trimmed the positions in Billiton and Standard Bank to begin building a position in Capitec Bank given the structural growth opportunities in the business. We elected to receive the Prosus shares in September 2019 instead of the Naspers shares. The decision was based on the short-term opportunity for the Prosus discount to narrow relative to the NAV, which was the case to the end of September 2019.

Market overview

After a strong first half of 2019 for equities, the third quarter proved to be tough with the JSE all share index falling 4.6% over the quarter. The reality of global growth concerns has been the root cause of the sell off globally and South African Equities were not spared. The worst performing sectors were not surprisingly the cyclical sectors reliant on growth. Basic materials, Consumers Services and Financials. More defensive Rand Hedges fared better given the depreciation of the Rand. Consumer Goods was the best performing sector, albeit still negative.

Looking ahead

In South Africa, local company valuations remain fundamentally attractive, but growth remains a key concern. Growth continues to be hampered by the fiscal constraints that South Africa is experiencing. Political uncertainty and a lack of investment is a burden on employment and very high real interest rates place a further constraint on consumption. Creative solutions and buy in from stakeholders are required. The fiscal burden requires growth to resolve the issue, but the government is incapable of spending to drive growth given the fiscal issues. The private sector is key if we are to recover and grow.

South Africa desperately requires investment to drive employment and growth which will in turn reduce the debt burden. Until we get policy certainty, this will likely be muted. Some positive events in the quarter included a policy discussion document released by Treasury which appears to be more investor friendly than previous communications released by government in the recent past. Adoption and implementation of the document are however questionable given the structural make up of the ruling party at this point. Fiscal policy remains vital and will need to lead an interest rate cycle. Monetary Policy alone is somewhat of a blunt instrument currently given the fiscal uncertainties.

The price we pay for SA equity has become ever more critical given the lack of growth. Although not expensive, diversification and discipline remain paramount. Equities can stay cheap for long periods in a low to no growth environment, like the one we currently find ourselves in domestically.
