Total Expense	1.83%
Transaction Costs	0.00%
Total Investment Charge	1.83%
1 Year Total Expense	1.26%

Total Expense (TER): This ratio shows the charges, levies and fees relating to the management of the portfolio and is expressed as a percentage of the average net asset value of the portfolio, calculated over the period shown and annualised to the most recently completed quarter. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER should not be regarded as an indication of future TERs.

Transaction Costs (TC): This ratio shows the percentage of the value of the fund incurred as costs relating to the buying and selling of the fund's underlying assets. TC are a necessary cost in administering the fund and impacts fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of fund, investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.

Total Investment Charges (TIC): This ratio is simply the sum of the TER and TC, showing the percentage of the value of the fund incurred as costs relating to the investment of the fund. It should be noted that performance figures account for all costs included in the TIC ratio, so you should not deduct the TIC from performance figures, the performance is already net of the TIC.

Fund review

It was another challenging quarter for global equity markets which saw a material contraction in the fund's net asset value. There was nowhere to hide for investors amidst the carnage with all sectors taking pain. The Consumer Discretionary sector fared well on a relative basis as resilience in the food services names like Starbucks helped to offset the weakness in consumer durables and apparel. The online advertising stocks such as Alphabet and Meta Platforms struggled as a weak macro and slowing consumer spending has led to marketing budgets being cut. Regionally the US was the best performing market for quarter.

The fund managed to marginally outperform the MSCI All Country World index as a result of our stock selection. We saw some evidence of a rebound in growth stocks over the quarter. Key contributors to the fund's performance included Starbucks (which saw a rally as they upgraded long term targets) and HDFC (which delivered solid earnings results indicating still attractive growth in the Indian banking market). Shares of the ecommerce giant Amazon saw strength as they reported an acceleration in ecommerce volumes and showed some signs that they are reaching an inflection point on costs. The fund was hurt by its exposure to Chinese tech stocks which saw a sell-off in line with the broader market on macro concerns as we continue to see lockdowns and a struggling property market in China.

Market overview

The outlook for interest rates has been the key driver of equity markets this year. We have seen a high degree of volatility centred around news flow and datapoints related to the inflation and interest rate outlook. Hawkish commentary from the Fed and an updated dot plot that signals more material rate hikes to come this year have seen equity markets tumble. There is growing concern that the actions by the Fed will result in a hard landing. Furthermore, there are increasingly more headlines on potential downside risks to earnings estimates. We have seen unmatched strength in the US dollar which should see US companies that have high international exposure, having their earnings impacted by negative FX translation. Sentiment has not been helped by escalating tensions in Russia's war with Ukraine.

Looking ahead

We hope for the best but prepare for the worst as the situation remains fluid. We have seen how quickly things can change over the past nine months. Ingrained in our investment process is to check the hatches are securely battened down ahead of the storm clouds.

Our fundamental analysis ensures objectivity amidst the whipsawing news and views of the day. We assess how resilient the fund's holdings will be during a downturn. You cannot generate long term compound returns if you are wiped when the business cycle hits a speed bump. In a recessionary environment, companies with strong balance sheets have low bankruptcy risk and can continue to invest in maintaining their competitive edge and in new growth opportunities. Our investment process is focused on finding these high-quality companies, quality being defined by a defensible economic moat, strong balance sheet, high return on capital employed and healthy cash flow generation. It is not enough to just identify these companies. We regularly test that this quality still holds true, particularly when there is a risk of a more challenging environment to come.

Our confidence in the balance sheet strength of our holdings not only ensures the long-term value of our clients' savings us protected through the business cycles, but also provides confidence to take advantage of short-term market sell-offs.
