

Melville Douglas STANLIB Balanced Fund

Fund information update at 31 July 2022

What is the fund's objective?

The objective of the fund is to deliver high growth of capital and income, a reasonable level of current income and relative stability for capital invested to obtain long term wealth accumulation.

What does the fund invest in?

The fund is an actively managed multi-asset class mandate designed to reflect Melville Douglas's optimal long-term capital growth strategy. The fund focuses on delivering balance between investment returns and the risk associated with those returns, between capital growth and cash generation and balance between compound and cyclical price performers. The maximum equity effective exposure (including international equity) will not exceed 75% of the market value of the portfolio.

What possible risks are associated with this fund?

General market risks include a decline in property values, share price volatility, a change in interest rates and economic conditions. Where foreign securities are included in the portfolio there may be additional risks, such as potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds, macro-economic risks, political risks, tax risks, settlement risks, and potential limitations on the availability of market information.

Cost ratios (annual) including VAT as at 30 June 2022

	Class B1
Based on period from:	01/07/2019
Total Expense	1.23%
Transaction Costs	0.10%
Total Investment Charge	1.33%
1 Year Total Expense	1.22%

Total Expense (TER): This ratio shows the charges, levies and fees relating to the management of the portfolio and is expressed as a percentage of the average net asset value of the portfolio, calculated over the period shown and annualised to the most recently completed quarter. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER should not be regarded as an indication of future TERs.

Transaction Costs (TC): This ratio shows the percentage of the value of the fund incurred as costs relating to the buying and selling of the fund's underlying assets. TC are a necessary cost in administering the fund and impacts fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of fund, investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.

Total Investment Charges (TIC): This ratio is simply the sum of the TER and TC, showing the percentage of the value of the fund incurred as costs relating to the investment of the fund. It should be noted that performance figures account for all costs included in the TIC ratio, so you should not deduct the TIC from performance figures, the performance is already net of the TIC.

Melville Douglas STANLIB Balanced Fund

Quarterly update at 30 June 2022

Who are the investment managers?

Since 1983 Melville Douglas has been delivering superior investment returns across a number of asset classes. As a global boutique investment management company within the Standard Bank Group, we are uniquely positioned to offer domestic and offshore investment solutions. What truly sets Melville Douglas apart is our experienced investment team and our approach to investing – driven by balance, a long-term view and a commitment to fundamental research – which informs our investment decisions across the board.

Paolo Senatore
MSc (Mechanical Engineering)
Strategist

Paolo joined Melville Douglas in 2018 as a strategist and co-manages the Melville Douglas STANLIB High Alpha Fund. Prior to this he was with the FirstRand Group since 1995, gaining over 20 years' financial market experience. During 2000, he became chief investment officer of RMB Private Bank Portfolio Management and held the responsibility of growing the specialised institutional business. He was chief investment officer for Ashburton Investments, FirstRand's asset management initiative, since its inception and was instrumental in consolidating the group's various asset-management businesses and investment processes. He holds an MSC (Mechanical Engineering).

Susan Gawith
BSc, MBA
Portfolio Manager

Before joining Melville Douglas in 2006, Susan was a rated sell-side analyst covering consumer stocks, and is now Melville Douglas's lead analyst on the retail, hotel and leisure sectors. She is also the co-manager of our key long-term capital growth fund - the Melville Douglas STANLIB Balanced Fund (ZAR). Susan holds a BSc degree and an MBA.

Fund review

The fund is down 5,1% in June and 6,4% for the quarter. In SA, the FTSE/JSE ALSI and Capped SWIX indices returned -11,7% and -10,6% over the quarter, pulling the one-year number down to 4,7%. Our equity fell 10,9% in the quarter. Although this is clearly a very poor absolute performance, it was in line with the difficult markets. The Rand weakened 10,2% against the USD over the quarter, and as a result our offshore holdings fell only 3,1% despite the MSCI AC index falling 14,6% in the quarter. We are concerned that the combination of global economic developments, loadshedding, floods, inflationary pressures and tighter monetary policy will act as headwinds to growth expectations, and felt it prudent to reduce the overweight equity position. We have made a number of changes in the last quarter, selling the Discovery and Momentum that were spun out of RMI. We also exited Spar, which we switched into Shoprite and sold NEPI Rockcastle. In the banking sector we identified FirstRand and Capitec as expensive, and chose to trim these and add Absa as a new holding. Similarly we added Old Mutual and Northam Platinum.

Market overview

So far 2022 has gone from bad to worse from a market perspective. Equity markets experienced their worst start to the year since 1970 as stagflation fears set in and Central Banks signalled a much firmer stance in bringing inflation under control. Global equity markets have officially entered a bear market after declines of more than 20% from the peak reached in January this year. Defensive sectors have held up reasonably well this year, but at the end of the first half of the year, the Energy sector was the only sector that printed a positive return on the back of significantly higher energy prices. Growth stocks in particular (IT and Discretionary) came under significant pressure this year on higher interest rates and elevated valuations. Outside of USD cash, oil and gold, there was nowhere to hide for investors. Global fixed income investors experienced pain as the capital losses for the year wiped out 10 years' worth of income, and investors that chanced their arm at speculative cryptocurrencies will be feeling bruised after sharp sell-offs in prices. Stagflation is categorised as a period of persistently high inflation and stagnant growth, both of which have historically been headwinds to investment markets. Although the sharp increase in inflation, which has been caused by a combination of strong demand and supply disruptions during the pandemic, and more recently caused by the war in Ukraine, will ease as commodity prices stabilise, production lines and logistics adjust, and supply bottlenecks ease, investors have become increasingly concerned about the expected slowdown in economic growth, or even worse the next recession. Domestic equity markets followed the trend of global equity markets and the FTSE/JSE Capped SWIX and ALSI indices ended the month down -7.5% and -8% respectively, while the rand depreciated by 3.8% against the strong USD which benefitted from high interest rate-and-growth differentials as well as its status as a safe haven currency during times of uncertainty. The Rand was also negatively impacted by Eskom's inability to generate the necessary electricity which resulted in elevated levels of Stage 6 loadshedding during the month. Resources (-16.3%) experienced a particularly tough month, followed by Financials -13.7%. Even though the sell-off was broad based, the Industrial sector ended the month in positive territory on the back of a significant increase in the share prices of Naspers +42% and Prosus +33%. An open-ended share buyback program and a commitment to unlocking shareholders value (reducing the discount to NAV) announced by management propelled the shares higher. South African bonds followed global bonds lower and were down 3.1% for the month, with SA's 10-year government bond at one stage reaching a YTM of close to 11%.

Looking ahead

Investors have become increasingly concerned about the slowdown in global growth momentum and more hawkish rhetoric from central banks. Persistent inflation, supply bottlenecks and the war in the Ukraine pose near term headwinds to the growth outlook. Higher oil and natural gas prices are now clearly impacting consumer's wallets. We do expect inflation to peak in the next 2-3 quarters, and this tends to be supportive of an equity rerating. Headlines in SA remain dominated by high petrol prices and the ongoing load shedding. The SA market's valuation doesn't seem demanding, and we remain constructive on the longer-term outlook. We have been stress testing our company balance sheets, cash flows and earnings outlooks. Although markets have sold off very sharply, we are not seeing earnings being revised down very much, and there is now a better valuation underpin.

All performance returns and ranking figures quoted are shown in ZAR and are based on data sourced from Morningstar or Statpro and are as at 31 July 2022.

Annualised return figures are the compound annualised growth rate (CAGR) calculated from the cumulative return for the period being measured. These annualised returns provide an indication of the annual return achieved over the period had an investment been held for the entire period. Actual annual figures are available on request from the Manager.

Portfolio performance figures are calculated for the relevant class of the portfolio, for a lump sum investment, on a NAV-NAV basis, with income reinvested on the ex-dividend date. Individual investor performance may differ due to initial fees, actual investment date, date of reinvestment of income and dividend withholding tax. Portfolio performance accounts for all costs that contribute to the calculation of the cost ratios quoted, all returns quoted are after these costs have been accounted for.

Statistics - Positive Months: the number of individual 1 month periods during the specified time period where the return was not negative; Max Gain: the maximum gain in a trough-to-peak incline before a new trough is attained, quoted as the percentage between the trough and the peak. It is an indicator of upside risk over a specified time period (quoted for all periods of 1 year or longer); Max Drawdown: the maximum loss in a peak-to-trough decline before a new peak is attained, quoted as the percentage between the peak and the trough. It is an indicator of downside risk over a specified time period (quoted for periods of 1 year or longer, where no value is shown no loss was experienced); Highest and Lowest: the highest and the lowest 1 year return (%) that occurred during the specified time period (quoted for all relevant classes launched 1 year or more prior to current month end date).
